What are predators?

Predators are living things that hunt and kill other living things for food. Their target is called the prey.

Big cats, such as lions, tigers, leopards and cheetahs, are among the world's most successful predators. They can run very fast and have sharp teeth and claws. They are also able to hide themselves in their environment because their fur is patterned to make them difficult to see. This is called camouflage. It is a common feature amongst both predators and prey.
