Identify the person (Questions 1 to 10) or the term (Questions 11 to 20) from the clues provided. Choose from the answers provided in this box:

pea	gene	C. Darwin	T. H. Boveri	chromosome	K. Landsteiner	J. Watson
fruit fly	sperm	W. S. Sutton	Gregor Mendel	nucleotide	A. R. Wallace	nucleus
RNA	allele	W. Johannsen	R. C. Punnett	W. Bateson	DNA

1 I am a monk and my research in peas led me to theories of inheritance. _____

2 I am an American. Working with grasshoppers I provided the first conclusive evidence that chromosomes carry units of inheritance and occur in distinct pairs. _____

3 I made similar discoveries to W. S. Sutton and at the same time. I also discovered the centrosome. _____

4 I came up with a blood classification system at the beginning of the 20th century. _____

5 I was the first to distinguish between genotype and phenotype and coined the term 'gene'. _____

6 My squares help to decide genotypes and phenotypes of offspring. _____

7 With Francis Crick and Maurice Wilkins I received a Nobel prize for work on DNA. _____

8 I came to similar conclusions as Charles Darwin and had an imaginary geographical line named after me. _____

9 My first names are Charles Robert and I was a naturalist on the 'Beagle'. _____

10 I am a British biologist and I came up with the term 'genetics' in 1906. _____

11 You can only see me when I'm dividing and if you dye me. _____

12 Farmers consider me a nuisance but, in my small way, I have helped geneticists. _____

13 I am a common or garden legume but a lot of interest was shown in my inheritance. _____

14 I am a male gamete. _____

15 I am a large, double-stranded helical molecule. _____

16 I am only a small part of a chromosome, but I give the instructions. _____

17 I am one half of a pair of non-identical genes for a particular trait. _____

18 I am the centre of things in almost every cell. _____

19 I contain a sugar, a phosphate and a base group containing nitrogen. _____

20 I am similar to DNA, and I am also found in the cytoplasm. _____
