Rock Cycle

Match the two halves of the sentences:

1. Magma from deep within the Earth rises	the Earth's crust, where the temperature and pressure are greater.
2. These igneous rocks are weathered and	melt to produce magma again.
3. As layers of sedimentary rocks build up, the bottom layers sink deeper and deeper into	to the surface, and cools to become igneous rock.
4. When this happens they	and uplifted by mountain-building forces.
5. If the temperature is high enough, they may	eroded to form sediments, which form sedimentary rocks.
6. They may also be uplifted by huge Earth forces	can be changed into metamorphic rocks.
7. The Earth's surface is constantly being worn down	form to another. The whole process is called the rock cycle.
8. As this happens the rock are changing from one	pushing the rocks upwards to form mountains.