A food chain game

MATERIALS

- One set of cards

- Butchers paper

- Markers

RULES

1. All chains must begin with a producer.

2. The appropriate cards that form a food chain should be laid out on butcher’s paper.

3. Arrows are to be drawn (the correct way) between the cards.

4. Once the food chain is made, it cannot be repeated. Each organism can be used in more than one chain.

GAME

1. People in your group take turns putting together a food chain on the butcher’s paper.

2. The food chain is then recorded in the table.

3. The group that has created the most food chains by the end of the time-limit wins.

Food chain written out